Management commentary

Market commentary

Macroeconomic view

The expectations for global economic growth in 2016 started out strong but have been levelled following the number of geopolitical events, low commodity prices and amid weak global trade capital flows. The European economy continues to exhibit resilience; the euro area GDP reached 1.6% and the EU28 1.8% in Q3 2016. The low inflation, loose monetary policies and recovery of the labour market begin to act as tailwinds in the area. The US economy advanced at its fastest in two years - annualised 2.9% in Q3 2016 - as a surge in exports and a rebound in inventory investment offset a slowdown in consumer spending. Political strife in Brazil leaves very little hope for economic growth in the region in the remainder of 2016. Despite the 0.8% quarter-over-quarter drop in Q3 GDP, the expectations for 2017 remain somewhat positive if the industrial manufacturing emerges from the political problems encountered earlier in the year and the slowing of the inflation continues. China's growth eased slightly in Q3 though it remains in line with the market estimate, while the asset bubble and debt levels continue to weaken the confidence surrounding the economy's growth figure going forward.

Private equity

Worldwide, 260 funds reached final closings raising an estimated private capital of USD 125 billion. Aggregate buyout deal value reached close to USD 92 billion in Q3, which is close to 3% higher than the preceding quarter. In terms of number of deals, the average deal size was up by nearly 15% from quarter-over-quarter, thus bringing the average deal size to USD 97 million from USD 85 million. North American buyout deal value closed around USD 62 billion in Q3, which is a marginal increase since Q2 that closed at USD 55 billion. Aggregate buyout value in Europe returned to its level after marking its highest in Q2 2016 at USD 27 billion; it reached approximately USD 15.3 billion.

In North America, the LBO price multiple continues to rise and is estimated to remain close to 11x EBITDA in 2016; an increase was also seen in the Q3 2016 US public market valuation. This positive trajectory is estimated to continue; however, the uncertainty regarding a potential rate hike and the upcoming US presidential transition in 2017 has left private equity ambivalent as to the latter's proposals on free trade and carried interest. In Europe, the price multiple reached 9.9x EBITDA in Q3 2016, which presents a notable increase from the 2015 average of 9.2x EBITDA. The public market valuation for Europe continues its volatility though expectations remain stable for the remainder of 2016. European LBOs' average debt level shows a marginal decrease though remaining close to 50% and 4.9x debt/EBITDA multiple.

The PE-backed exit value reported a quarter-over-quarter decrease of approximately 10%, closing at estimated USD 82 billion. The respective number of deals made was down by 9% - leaving the average exit value largely unchanged at USD 195 million. The IPO market reported a 40% decline in the number of listings in the three-month period after reaching one of the highest citations in Q2 of 81 deals; the aggregate value reached USD 11.6 billion in Q3, which corresponds to a 30% decline from the preceding period. Recapitalisations and restructurings, which during the last few months have constituted under a percentage point of the total exits, closed at USD 1.2 billion. This is largely at the level of the same time last year. Trade sales continue to constitute over 50% of the total aggregate exit value, closing at USD 46 billion in Q3 2016. The average private equity-based buyout deal value was up in quarter-over-quarter - mainly driven by three US deals and one Israeli deal, all crossing the USD 4 billion mark. Overall, the exit market remains active but 'seasonal'; market sentiment suggests adverse but temporary effects on the volume of secondary market. Trade sales represent the majority of equity-based exits, while the IPO market continues to be 'on-and-off'.

Going forward

With the volatile public market and increasing amount of capital available among investors, demand for access to the best private equity funds is expected to continue in 2017. For 2017, estimates of global core EBITDA growth rates for public companies is in the range of 10 to 12% in Europe and the US. With the projection of the same positive rebound in earnings for private companies, we believe to see continued high prices on private companies and a huge pressure on private equity managers to improve operating performance and drive growth for the companies in which they invest. Based on this, we expect the growth in net asset value in 2017 to be in the range of 10%-15%.

Management commentary

Events after the balance sheet date

The Partnership made no drawdowns and distributed EUR 21.7 million subsequent to the balance sheet date.

Subsequent to the accounting period, the USD has appreciated against the EUR. As the Partnership does not hedge against currency fluctuations, this has - all else equal - increased the value of the USD investments.

From the balance sheet date till today, no circumstances have occurred which could alter the assessment of the annual report.

Income is recognised in the income statement when realised, comprising adjustments of the value of financial assets and liabilities. In the income statement, all costs are also recognised, including depreciations and write-downs.

Assets are recognised in the balance sheet when it is probable that future economic benefits will flow to the Partnership, and the value of the asset can be measured reliably.

Liabilities are recognised in the balance sheet when an outflow of economic benefits is probable and the value of the liability can be measured reliably.

On initial recognition, assets and liabilities are measured at cost. Measurement subsequent to initial recognition is effected as described below for each financial statement item.

In recognising and measuring assets and liabilities, any anticipated risks and losses that arise before the time of presentation of the annual report and that confirm or invalidate affairs and conditions existing at the balance sheet date are considered at recognition and measurement.

Foreign currency translation

Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rate of exchange on the transaction date. Foreign exchange adjustments arising from the difference between the exchange rates on the transaction date and the date of payment are recognised in the income statement as financial income or financial expenses. Ownership interests in portfolio funds, account receivables and other debt denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the exchange rates on the balance sheet date. The differences between the exchange rates on the balance sheet date and the date on which the account receivables or payable arose are recognised in the income statement as financial income or financial expenses.

Foreign exchange adjustments of investments in portfolio funds are recognised in the income statement under profit/loss on investments.

Balance sheet

Other investments

Other investments are stated at their estimated market values (fair value), fixed by the investment manager based on information received from the committed funds.

The investment manager may at its sole discretion choose to write down the investments relative to their market values as reported by the committed funds.

The estimated market value of listed portfolio companies is the quoted closing price at the balance sheet date reduced by up to 30% due to illiquidity of large stakes, lock-up periods, etc., in connection with initial public offerings and other factors constraining liquidity. The estimated market value of unlisted portfolio companies is the cost price, unless relevant information is available indicating that a significant valuation adjustment should be made. Such information could be a new trading price resulting from a capital increase or a partial sale or transactions carried out in peer group companies.

Investments in distressed securities are recognised at cost price as an estimated market value cannot be calculated.

The value at realisation of the investment may differ significantly from the estimated market value due to the uncertainty associated with stating an investment at its estimated market value and cost price.

Unrealised losses and gains as well as realised losses and gains from investments in funds are recognised in the income statement.

Receivables

Receivables are measured at amortised cost, usually equalling nominal value less writedowns for bad and doubtful debts.

Other investments

Cash comprises cash in other cash equivalents.

Cash

Cash comprises cash in bank deposits.

Other financial liabilities

Other financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost, which usually corresponds to nominal value.

Cash flow statement

The cash flow statement shows cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities as well as cash and cash equivalents at the beginning and the end of the financial year.

Accounting policies
