MANAGEMENT REVIEW

The ambition of A.P. Moller Holding is through APMH Invest IV to introduce geothermal energy on a large scale starting with Denmark, and hereby support the green transformation of heating sources to district heating solutions. Geothermal energy is a renewable and currently untapped energy source with the potential to cover approx. 30% of Denmark's energy supply for district heating.

In June 2018, A.P. Moller Holding transferred their geothermal energy project to APMH Invest IV. The project was initiated in 2017 by gathering a team of specialists with extensive experience from developing large, complex, and capital intensive subsurface projects. Such competences are crucial in order to exploit geothermal energy.

Our business model stands out from existing projects (local small-scale plants), as it is our ambition to industrialise geothermal heating by utilising geothermal energy on a large scale lowering costs and offering the district heating companies – and the consumers – renewable heating at prices that are competitive today.

Our value proposition to our customers is that we deliver “hot water” for heating on long-term contracts at pre-agreed prices, against assuming the operational risk both in the exploration, construction and operation phase.

The company has entered into a strategic partnership with Danfoss who are leading experts within district heating systems and energy efficiency.

The company holds the licenses for geothermal exploration in North Zealand and Aarhus. During 2020, the company returned the license for geothermal exploration in Aalborg to Energistyrelsen.

In October 2018, a Letter of Intent was signed with Aarhus Municipality. The parties have started exclusive negotiations about a heat delivery contract, where the company is responsible for delivering geothermal heat for use in Aarhus' district heating. The negotiations are almost concluded and we expect them finalised within first half of 2021 – still subject to regulatory challenges mentioned below.

Furthermore, we are in dialogue with other district heating companies regarding the green transformation of heating sources.

Introducing geothermal energy at a large scale in Denmark requires a level playing field with other green energy sources, and a stable and predictable regulatory and economic framework conditions, where we can enter into long-term contracts, offering renewable energy at competitive prices. We are in dialogue with relevant authorities on these matters.

PROFIT/LOSS FOR THE YEAR

Net loss for the year after tax amounted to DKK 8.3m (DKK 0.5m). Net loss for the year are affected by expenses related to the license for geothermal exploration in Aalborg as this geographical area will not be pursued further by the company.

The result for the year is proposed transferred to retained earnings. No dividend is proposed for 2020.

As of 31 December 2020, the equity amounted to DKK 66.4m (DKK 41.9m).

OUTLOOK FOR 2021

The development of the geothermal energy project will continue in 2021. The company's profit will essentially come from the share of the profit of its future activities. As for 2021, a net loss for the year is expected due to the continuing development of the geothermal energy project.

Note 4: Project under development

The company is working towards introducing geothermal heating on a large scale in Denmark. Geothermal energy is a renewable and currently untapped energy source with the potential to cover approx. 30% of Denmark's energy supply for district heating.

A team of specialists with extensive experience from large, complex, and capital intensive projects developing the subsurface has been put together. Such competencies are key in order to exploit geothermal energy.

There are currently three minor geothermal plants in Denmark, but our new business model differs from the existing projects. Our ambition is to utilise geothermal energy on a large scale so we can lower the costs and offer the district heating companies – and the consumers – renewable heating at prices that are competitive today. Our business model means that we are responsible for exploration, construction and operation of the plants. Hence, the consumers will not end up paying the bill if things should not proceed as planned.

The company has entered into a strategic partnership with Danfoss who are leading experts within district heating system and energy efficiency.

In October 2018, a Letter of Intent was signed with Aarhus Municipality. The parties have started exclusive negotiations about a heat delivery contract, where the company is responsible for delivering geothermal heat for use in Aarhus' district heating.

As the company is negotiating a heat delivery contract and exploration is to be initiated, our business model and utilisation of geothermal energy are subject to uncertainties. It is expected to take 5-6 years from the first exploration until the geothermal plant is ready to provide warm water to the district heating companies. In 2020, the company has been funded by equity from the shareholder of the company.

To the shareholder of APMH Invest IV A/S

OPINION

In our opinion, the Financial Statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the company at 31 December 2020, and of the results of the company's operations for the financial year 1 January-31 December 2020 in accordance with the Danish Financial Statements Act.

We have audited the Financial Statements of APMH Invest IV A/S for the financial year 1 January-31 December 2020, which comprise income statement, balance sheet, statement of changes in equity and notes, including a summary of significant accounting policies ("financial statements").

BASIS FOR OPINION

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) and the additional requirements applicable in Denmark. Our responsibilities under those standards and requirements are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the company in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) and the additional requirements applicable in Denmark, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

STATEMENT ON MANAGEMENT REVIEW

Management is responsible for Management Review.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover Management Review, and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read Management Review and, in doing so, consider whether Management Review is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained during the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

Moreover, it is our responsibility to consider whether Management Review provides the information required under the Danish Financial Statements Act.

Based on the work we have performed, in our view, Management Review is in accordance with the Financial Statements and has been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Danish Financial Statements Act. We did not identify any material misstatement in Management Review.

MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Management is responsible for the preparation of Financial Statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with the Danish Financial Statements Act, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting in preparing the financial statements unless management either intends to liquidate the company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE AUDIT OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs and the additional requirements applicable in Denmark will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs and the additional requirements applicable in Denmark, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting in preparing the financial statements and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and contents of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that gives a true and fair view.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
