Investment properties

Disclosure of assumptions underlying fair value calculations of assets and liabilities:

The measurement of properties is made used discounted cash flow model based on expected future net cash flows over a period of ten years. The fair value measurement is made based on estimated rental income and expected operating costs, including scheduled maintenance. Cashflows beyond the tenth year (terminal value) is determined according to a net rent model based on the 10th year. Cash flows are discounted with the required rate of return, determined for each individual property with inflation.
